DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 13-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Claim 13 is drawn to a device that includes an elongate member having a first passage extending from a distal end of a catheter. It is assumed that the elongate member and the catheter are the same element, in light of the disclosure of the invention. However, the claim presents two distinct elements, and therefore is not supported by the disclosure. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Art Unit: 3763

Claims 7 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Sarkis et al (US Pat# 5,921,933). Sarkis discloses a medical device with an echogenic coating that includes a catheter having a first open passage (see figure 9) that can be connected (10) to a syringe and a second passage (see figure 9) parallel to the first passage. The second passage is closed at both ends and contains an echogenic material (47) at the level of the open end. The fact that the echogenic material is contained in the second passage makes the second passage closed at both ends. The echogenic material is an echogenic polymer film. See Summary.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sarkis et al. Sarkis meets the claim limitations as described above but fails to include the echogenic polymer being PTFE.

However, at the time of the invention, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to use PTFE as the echogenic polymer. Applicant has not disclosed that PTFE provides an advantage, is used for a particular purpose, or solves a stated problem. One of ordinary skill in the art, furthermore, would have expected Applicant's invention to perform equally well with either the polymer as taught by Sarkis or PTFE because both materials are highly compatible and Sarkis discloses using a biocompatible plastic.

Response to Amendment

The amendment filed 03/29/2004 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132 because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132 states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: claim 13 is drawn to a device that includes an elongate member having a first passage extending from a distal end of a catheter.

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. US pat#s 6,527,752 and 6,527,752 disclose inventions analogous in the art.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
